

Order Zoning Change To Provide Richfield Plant Site

PROTESTS ARE OVERRULED BY CITY COUNCIL

Change of the zoning requirements of a 30-acre tract in the northeast part of the city from residential to heavy industrial, which will permit the erection of the $50,000 Richfield Oil company plant there, adoption of resolutions ordering the improvement projects, first reading of an ordinance accepting the annexation of the Delhi district to Santa Ana and opening of bids for the purchase of a new garbage truck were high lights of the city council meeting last night in the city hall.

The change of the zoning requirements in the Washington Avenue-Lincoln street district was made following the withdrawal of the protest by some of the citizens of the district who previously had objected to the change, the assurance of the Richfield Oil company that certain requests of the citizens of the district would be fulfilled and the recommendation of the city planning commission that the change be made if the oil company would assure the landscaping of their property and meet certain other requests of the citizens of the district.

BOY ROBBED

In a bold daylight holdup, Charles Vowell, above, 21-year-old messenger for the American First National Bank of Oklahoma City, was robbed of $75,000 and shot in the arm. Vowell was transferring the money from the Federal Reserve Bank to the American First National for payrolls. The three bandits overlooked $10,000 in the boy's pocket. They made a clean getaway.

WOMEN INVITED TO OPENING OF MODEL KITCHEN

A special invitation to the women of Santa Ana and vicinity to attend the opening of the model kitchen in the Orange county district offices of the Southern Counties Gas company, 207 West Second street, Santa Ana at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, was extended today by District Manager C. E. Rutledge. Arrangements have been made to provide comfortably for the hundreds who are expected to attend the opening. Representatives of a number of women's organizations throughout the county will serve on the reception committee and will preside at the refreshments tables.

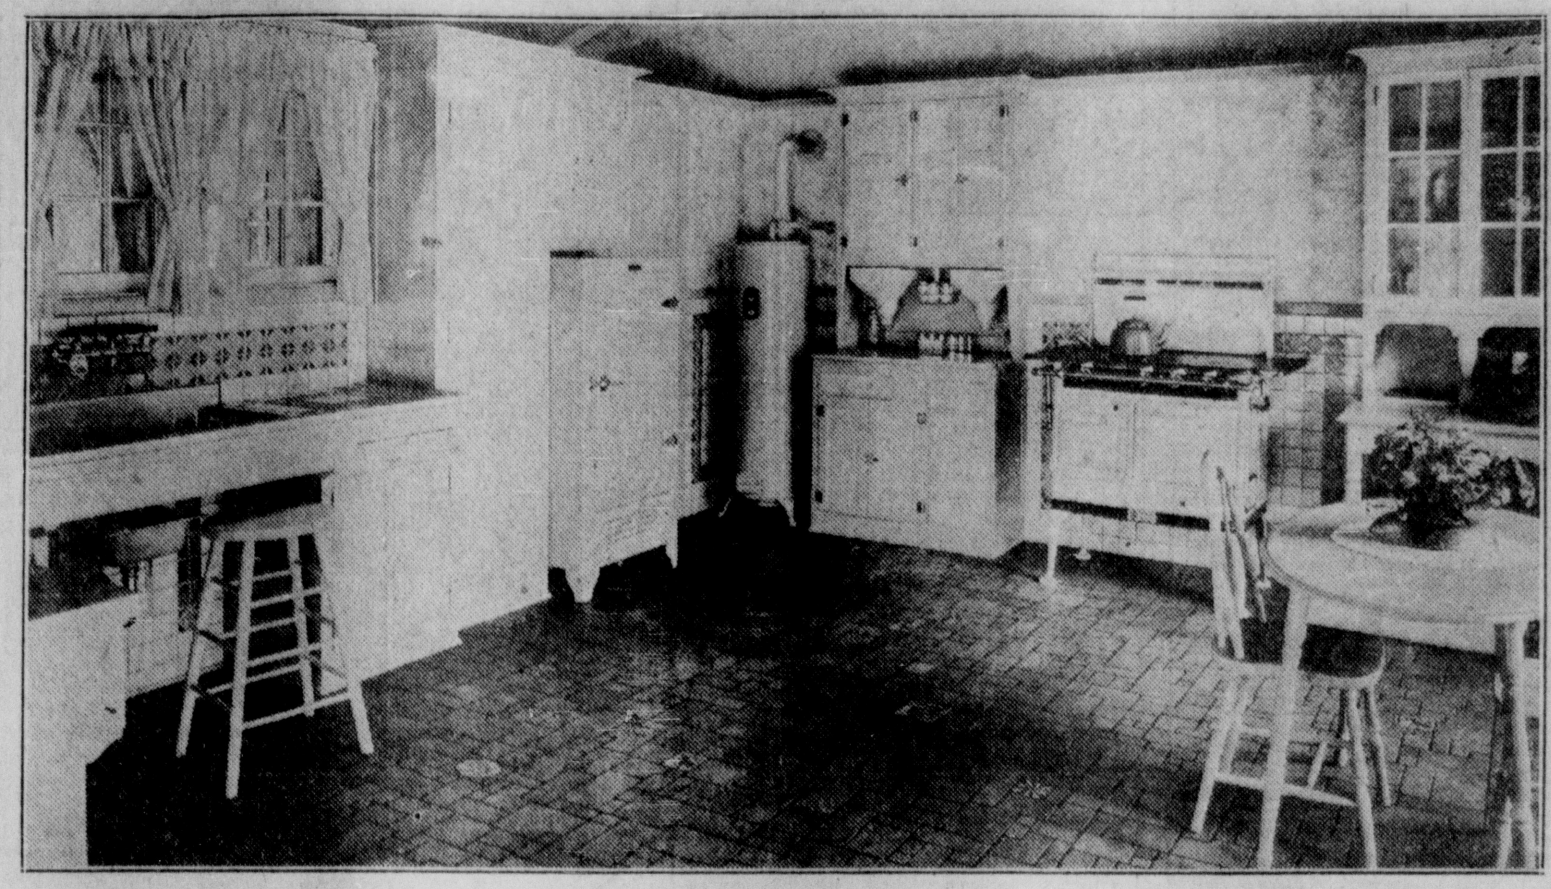

Ernest Irving Freese, architect who designed the model kitchen will be present during the hours of the reception, from 2 until 5:30, and will be presented by the hostesses of the afternoon to those who visit the kitchen.

Visitors also are expected from Long Beach, Santa Monica, Whittier and other cities where the building of the model kitchen here has aroused considerable interest. Leaders of a number of women's clubs, Parent-Teacher associations and Business and Professional Women's clubs in various sections of Orange county who have been given a preview of the kitchen, have praised the painstaking care with which Manager Rutledge and his architect-designer have provided so many of the conveniences seldom found except in the more modern kitchens.

At the official opening tomorrow, the kitchen will be dedicated by Manager Rutledge to the women of Orange county. "The room and its entire equipment is at the disposal of any women's organization in Orange county at any time during any business day or in the evening by special arrangement," he said. "Anyone who may be planning some re-arrangement of their home kitchen is more than welcome to use any of the ideas that have been worked out here. On the other hand we would be very glad to have suggestions on the possible improvement of this model kitchen. Freese has endeavored to work out the latest ideas in kitchen conveniences and in combinations of color to make the room cheerful. Ideas for improving what has been done will be received with appreciation both by the company and by Freese."

Rutledge, district manager of the gas company, at appropriate dedication exercises. The model kitchen was designed by Ernest Irving Freese, noted architect.

All extras are welcome at camp and the company today expressed its appreciation of the way in which the people of this city are responding to the appeal.

S. A. BAND WILL OFFER POPULAR OPERA OF VERDI

Announcement was made this morning by D. C. Cianfoni, director of Santa Ana Municipal band, concerning the attractive concert program planned by the organization for presentation Thursday night, starting at 7:30, in Birch park.

Selections will include the overture from Giuseppe Verdi's opera, "Joan of Arc." One of the composer's earlier dramatic works, this opera had its premiere in 1845, when Verdi was 32 years old.

Although possibly not so well known as some of Verdi's more popular romantic operas, this overture from "Joan of Arc" is thoroughly satisfying in its poetic delicacy and ever-shifting harmonic nuances. Its pastoral andante theme is abruptly contrasted in the concluding theme with fiery, violently crescendoed accelerando.

Verdi, who enjoyed a long and eventful musical career, rich in productivity and applause from the multitude such as has been the reward of but few other composers, is internationally acclaimed by critics as the most representative Italian opera composer of his time.

Very brilliant and a popular favorite with music-lovers universally is the selection from Bizet's opera, "Carmen," also to be featured by the band Thursday night, following many requests for its presentation. Founded on Prosper Merimee's famous novel, "Carmen" first was produced at the Opera Comique, in Paris, in 1875. Though at first harshly used by the critics, "Carmen" soon took its place among the great masterpieces, today holding the world's record of operatic performances.

Rich in dramatic power, spontaneity and musical inventiveness, the replete with stirring romance,

HEALTH CAMP IN URGENT NEED OF STOVE WOOD

The weather may be warm, but still it is not hot enough to fry eggs on the sidewalk. And besides there aren't enough concrete walks at the health camp in the Santiago canyon to fry all the eggs that could be eaten by the children of Orange county who have come there to win their way back to health and vigor.

In other words the health camp is in need of stove wood with which to cook the youngsters' meals, according to Amelia A. Meagher, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, which supervises the camp. Mrs. Meagher issued the following appeal today through The Register:

"The Orange County Children's Health camp is desperately in need of wood. The children's meals are cooked with wood and our supply is about exhausted. Will anyone, willing to give wood to this good cause, please write or phone the Orange County Tuberculosis association, 314 hall of records, Santa Ana, phone 3900?"

'LIVE YOUR OWN LIFE' IF YOU WOULD LIVE LONG, IS CODE OF B. S. S. HADLEY, 92

Benjamin S. S. Hadley, a veteran of the Crimean war of 1854-56, reflected on 92 years of life today. This was his birthday and he celebrated it in his own quiet, humble way at 316 1/2 North Main street, his home.

In the sunset of a life that has been rich in travel and experience, this hardy pioneer, 45 years a resident of Santa Ana, advises the world "to be itself."

"You must live your own life," Hadley said. "Keep out of other people's affairs. Mind your own business and obey the law. Be honest. Be true. Live moderately and if you give life half a chance you will be happy."

At the same time, Hadley sees no harm in the use of tobacco.

"I smoke from morning until night and I've never felt any ill effects," he argued.

Hadley was born in 1837, at Bengal, in the East Indies, where his father, a colonel of infantry in the British army, and his mother were billeted. He was educated in England and was completing a course at Wellington college when the Crimean war, between Russia on the one side, and Turkey and its allies, England, France and Sardinia, on the other, broke out.

He was commissioned a lieutenant and served in his father's regiment. He saw his father fall, mortally wounded, on the battlefield of Alma.

After the war, Hadley returned to England. Years later he moved to Canada and 45 years ago to Santa Ana. He has been a citizen of this country more than 25 years.

Hadley takes especial pride in the fact that he never has been in court for any reason other than jury duty. He believes that respect for the law is the foundation on which the success of nations is constructed. Incidentally, he feels those persons legally empowered to legislate should be left alone to work out their problems of state.

Four of Hadley's children are living. The oldest, Albert, 62, resides in Tustin. Arthur, two years younger, lives in Santa Ana. Benjamin S. S. Hadley Jr., is in Traverse City, Mich., and Charley, the youngest, in Alberta, Canada.

All journeymen painters are invited to attend an open meeting of Local 315 to be held on Wednesday July 17 at 308 1-2 East Fourth.

"Fast One" Pulled By Oregon Driver

RED BLUFF, Calif., July 16.—(UP)—Local authorities are beginning to think that a "fast one" has been put over on them.

A. B. O'Neil, Portland, Ore., civil engineer, was arrested here recently for speeding. He gave the local justice of the peace a $20 check which was later returned with the information that the account had been withdrawn the day before the check arrived.

"Maybe it's a mistake and maybe it isn't," said Frank Hobson, traffic officer who arrested O'Neil. Acting on the latter supposition, Hobson has sworn out a warrant against O'Neil.

A letter from the Richfield Oil company was read, assuring full co-operation on all points mentioned by the property owners who were withdrawing their protest. The letter stated that in consideration of the rezoning of the district the company would build an attractive plant, would landscape and maintain it in good condition, would donate the strip of not less than 20 feet for alley purposes and would grade and oil and keep it in good condition and would use its influence with the railroad company to secure its co-operation on the other points requested.

The council then denied the protest against the change and ordered the proper ordinance providing for the change. Action also was taken providing for the 10-foot setback line on Washington avenue.

Resolution Adopted

An improvement resolution was adopted providing for the paving of Grand avenue, between First and Fourth streets, and Second street, between Grand avenue and McClay street. A similar resolution ordered the installation of an ornamental light system, comprising 82 standards, in the southeast part of the city. The resolution provided for the establishment of an assessment district, issuance of bonds and set August 5 as the time for hearing protests against the improvement or the extent of the assessment district. The proposed improvement provides for ornamental standards on East Bishop street, between Halladay street and Orange avenue, on Wakeham avenue, between the same points; on Wisteria place, between Oak street and Orange avenue; on Beverly place, between Halladay street and Oak street; on Harwood place, between Oak street

ALL MECHANISM ON TOP where it belongs!

THERE are many reasons why all the mechanism of the General Electric Refrigerator is placed on top of the cabinet. Here are 3 vital reasons:

1. Refrigerating mechanisms develop heat in the process of cooling the interior of the refrigerator. This heat escapes and rises. Therefore, General Electric has placed the refrigerating mechanism on top so that the escaping heat travels away from the cabinet.

2. Placing all the mechanism on top of the cabinet achieves maximum food storage space within the cabinet.

3. With the mechanism on top, the inside of the cabinet is free from obstructions and easier to keep clean.

A delightful affair of Saturday evening was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tulene of 623 West Maple street, Orange, honoring their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tulene who had just returned from a honeymoon spent at Lake Arrowhead.

Mrs. Tulene was formerly Miss Hazel Crawford, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Crawford, of 320 West Nineteenth street, this city. Their wedding was an event of July 6 and took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford.

The dignified marriage service was read by the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, and was followed by a reception when relatives and intimate friends of the young people were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Tulene are making their home in Orange with Mr. Tulene's parents for the time being although both are employed in Santa Ana. Mr. Tulene is with the Trust department of the Bank of Italy and his wife is at the Orange County Pipe and Supply company.

Quantities of gladioluses, dahlias, and roses in vivid colors were used in profusion about the home and in the cozy little apartment that had been prepared for the bride and groom. The many lovely wedding gifts received by the young people were arranged in their apartment where the guests could view them.

Miss Ruth Crawford, pretty sister of the bride, who was bridesmaid at her wedding, assisted Mrs. A. C. Tulene in her hostess duties during the evening and she presided at the punch bowl which was placed at a prettily decorated table centered with a large basket of roses.

PARIS, July 16.—Never was there such a grave matter for discussion where women gather together as the question of the longer skirt. It is extraordinary what a world of controversy this detail has caused in fashion circles and apparently the matter is not yet settled. We have clung so hard and so long to the short skirt in the belief that it imparted to us all an air of perpetual youth that it took a man of daring like Jean Patou to endeavor to change the order of things. He, like a few others of the leading couturiers, had accustomed women for several seasons to longer lines, but until now these efforts had always been confined to evening dresses and even then, the legs from just below the knee were seen through the sheer materials used. In his present collection, Jean Patou frankly lowers the hem of all but his sports dresses without as much as a word of warning and, what is more, his collection has been voted one of the outstanding ones of the season.

Short Skirt Doomed?

Women, however, are born imitators—in their dress, at all events. Let one or two of them who are recognized as leaders of fashion adopt the "between the knee and ankle" length and it will not be long before we all follow suit. It would not be an impossible thing, either, to hear the short skirt spoken of with scorn next season. The fact remains that the normally long skirt is undoubtedly more becoming to the majority of us, however much we resent being told so.

Another feature of the new fashions that is causing much comment is the form-fitting princess style that all the couturiers are showing. Women see in this style an omen in the form of a waist-restricting corset, and refuse to be compelled to wear anything so old-fashioned. As a matter of fact, most Frenchwomen wear some kind of support, even the slimmest, and that is all the new fashions would ever need. There are many women who were not slim but who managed to hide the fact, thanks to the low waist and fullness of dresses of a few seasons ago. But the new swathed hipline and formfitting bodices betray every curve of the body and women are torn between the desire to possess one of those delightfully new frocks, and the necessity of correcting their silhouettes.

Foresaw the Mode

Poiret's collection, after many seasons of oddness, appeared this year to be extremely wearable because he just continued creating models on a theme which now has been adapted by everyone else. He stresses the princess line also and shows some unusual sleeve treatments, but very few of his models could be termed eccentric. Poiret's skirts are, of course, just a little longer than anyone else's, but that is part of their originality.

Garden and Card Party Successful Event Of Last Night

Seldom was night lovelier for a garden party than was last night, chosen by members of the Altar society and Holy Name society of St. Anne's Roman Catholic church for a delightfully appointed garden and card party.

The half moon added its light to that of gay Japanese lanterns arranged about the garden that surrounds the church and the parsonage where the affair was held. Card tables were decked in bright colors that rivalled in vividness the lovely flowers that grow in the garden at St. Anne's.

Both bridge and five hundred were enjoyed by the eighty guests and following several delightful games the scores were added and winners were presented with attractive gifts.

In bridge Miss Stella Sheeler, Mrs. N. C. Meyer, George Young and N. C. Meyer were high and in five hundred Mrs. Charles Borchard, Mrs. Joseph Ryan, Mr. Ryan and Antone Borchard received honors.

The door prize was won by Miss Josephine Grossman and the lovely diamond ring that was a special prize was received by Miss Dora Hendrie of Los Angeles.

At a late hour a delicious refreshment course was served by the hosts committee that included Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gillen, Mrs. Henry Kessler and Mrs. Elizabeth Dowerfox.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

Are women "monsters of cruelty"? Arnold Bennett says so. He says in toto—"Even the finest and most agreeable women, such as those with whom I have been careful to surround myself in my domestic existence, are monsters of cruelty."

While a great wave of protest will arise from most of our sex, I have often marveled at the cruelty of women—especially mothers. Nothing so seems to make a woman oblivious of the rights and needs of everyone else in the world as to have children of her own.

Not long ago I saw and heard two women wrangling in fury at a public drinking fountain. It was Sunday, and hot. Every family in that city, it seemed, had gone to the park for a picnic. Hordes of children hovered about the fountain with pails and drinking cups.

"JUST AS GOOD"

Suddenly one woman scuttled up like an avenging spirit, swept a half dozen children away from the fountain, thrust forward her own brood, and turned to glare at the mothers of those swept aside.

"They weren't giving my kids their turn," she said. "And my kids are just as thirsty and just as good as yours."

While the incident may seem far-fetched and we may argue that this crude bit of supermaternity is not at all typical, one sees again and again a bit more refined examples of the greediness of mother love towards everyone but its own.

It is only fair to recognize, though, that maternity and tenderness towards one's own sometimes bring a corresponding tenderness towards all other humanity. But, on the whole, I fear that Bennett is right.

HOLLYWOOD MAN SAYS SARGON IS WONDERFUL

McDermott States He Is Brimful of New Life, Energy and Strength.

"It looks like I meet people every day who have something fine to say about this new Sargon treatment. I never heard so much praise for a medicine in all my life. I've been taking it and you can just add my name to the thousands Sargon has restored to health, because I'm convinced it's the finest body rebuilding medicine ever made!"

JOHN McDERMOTT

"For some time I've realized my health was going back on me and I needed something to build up my system. I just didn't seem to have any strength and I had a sluggish, let-down feeling that made life a drag. My liver was inactive, I was nervous and couldn't sleep well, and half the time I didn't even feel like eating. The least exertion tired me out."

"It was almost unbelievable, the feeling of new life and strength that came over me when I began taking Sargon. I'm like a different man, eating better, sleeping better and feeling better in every way. I am no longer nervous and I can be on the go all day without feeling all tired out when I get home."

"There's nothing to equal Sargon Soft Mass Pills for toning up the liver and keeping you regulated. I'm more fit than in years and it's great to be enjoying good health again!"

"Sargon is a commonsense medicine that makes you well and keeps you well, and I tell all my friends about its wonder-work. I'll be glad to have anybody ask me more about this wonderful treatment."

The above statement was made a few days ago by John McDermott, retired real estate operator, 1517 North Kingsley Drive, Hollywood, Calif.

Sargon may be obtained in Santa Ana at the Schramm-Johnson drug store.—Adv.

"Yellow Bird," who, though he almost defeated the flight, was acclaimed with both praise for courage and criticism for his selfish ruthlessness, greeted their son with open arms when he returned from Europe a few days ago. But the son was singularly abashed, while his parents sang his praises. Parents are apt to be like that. A bit confused about it and the goings-on in this world, they just assume that if their kids do it, it must be worth writing home about.

FAMILY QUARREL

Speaking of parents, here are Mr. and Mrs. Max Oser, the former Mathilde McCormick, visiting her mother, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, for the first time since her marriage and her estrangement from her mother.

The estrangement lasted six or seven years, and was not broken even by the advent of Peter and Anita Oser. Mother and daughter estrangements do not usually last that long. And when they do it is generally the daughter who is stronger at "holding out" than the mother.

Quarrelling with one's offspring generally only takes place when the parent feels that the offspring is in danger of harming himself or herself.

NO KISSES!

And, still speaking of parents, comes one Dr. Caroline Ledger of the Elizabeth Rockefeller McCormick Foundation to again admonish parents not to kiss their babies. The eminent M. D. explains that "when a mother kisses her baby, the child experiences a series of emotional somersaults that are decidedly disturbing."

But again the M. D. will probably learn that kissing is too fundamental a human instinct to be governed very much by even what is best for the kisses.

The MIXING BOWL

By ANN MEREDITH

Take a Side (or Rear) View of Yourself!

"She walks in beauty" is only true when one has gained a proper knowledge of what constitutes CORRECT POSTURE.

Women usually choose a hat because it looks good from the front, while the rest of the world sees it from all sides and often realize how ugly it is as a whole. The same is true of posture. They see their reflections in windows, always from the front, but OH, that awful hump so many of them carry without realizing it... posture again!

The next time you have the chance to observe a trained dancer or a fine singer, please note how every movement flows into the one following. They are at ease... erect yet relaxed... seemingly tireless. Motion with these people centers around the Solar Plexus, a complicated assortment of nerves directly under what we term our "stomach." The body is trained to move from this center much as a flower sways on its stem.

Go for a walk with your mind on the general location of your solar plexus, force your body to make all its movements from that center. Watch how your shoulders will relax, yet straighten, the loose, lengthened feeling that comes around the waist, and the swallow-like motion your walk takes on. This is the first and most important law of correct posture.

Are you round-shouldered? I will have something to tell you about that tomorrow.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Meringues
4 egg whites
Pinch of salt
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
3 cups fine white sugar
Meringues are one of those delicacies we look at in a swanky pastry shop window and wish we knew just how to make them. That's the easiest thing in the world, all that is required is a strong arm and a slow oven, then a look on the cake box to keep The Family from raiding your supply.

I suggest that the eggs and sugar be combined without the addition of flavoring, the recipe divided in two parts, extract added to one and some raspberry jam (put through a sieve to take out seeds) used to flavor the other. Serve the meringues as a base for a serving of ice cream, a bit of fresh fruit, the whole topped with whipped cream.

Add a pinch of salt to the egg whites and beat them very dry. Then add the sugar, a quarter cupful at a time, beating after each addition. Flavor the meringues.

Have buttered paper in pans, drop the meringues in small heaps allowing room for them to spread a little. Have the oven set at 250 degrees F. and bake them for an hour, turn off the oven and leave the meringues to cool and dry in the oven.

Crush them lightly with a spoon before topping with whatever you are serving with them.

Just 1350 calories make the total in the meringues. I am sure the quantity mixed will make at least 20 small meringues... about 70 calories each. Don't forget that these calories are 99 per cent pure energy units.

'SQUALL' SCORES IN FOX WALKER HOUSE

"The Squall" blew into Santa Ana last night and landed in the Fox Walker theater. It was a distinct triumph for the sound picture. The film depicts a band of Hungarian Gypsies and middle class people of that country. The picturesque settings and the fine cast of players add much to the picture which was acclaimed by those who attended last night as one of the best of the season.

ALL-TALKIE FILM MEETS APPROVAL

"On With the Show," the first 100 per cent natural talking picture, a Warner Vitaphone production, met with the complete approval of the large audience in the Fox Broadway last night. The effect is soft and glamorous and all shades of colors are reproduced with a pleasing exactness. Added

STORY BY HAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

"Well, well," said Clowny. "Here we are, up in this tree and mighty far from 'way up in the sky,' where we had been for days and days. All we need do is climb right down. Perhaps we're near some little town. Where'er it is, it's better than right near the sun's hot rays."

Then Scouty said, "It's mighty queer how our cloud went away from here. I guess when it bumped this big tree, it simply broke apart. The wind that came in one big puff blew us all down just as hard enough. If we are going to leave this tree, I guess we'd better start."

"Be careful, as we start to climb. I fear we'll have an awful time at scrambling through the branches, 'cause the leaves are very thick. Just follow me. I'll do my best to pick a safe way for the rest. Don't slip in going down the trunk. The bark is rather slick."

Three of the Times scrambled 'round until they finally reached the ground. "Where's Clowny?" "Is he still up in the tree?" "You bet I am," wee Clowny cried. "I have a plan that shall be tried. I'm going to swing down to the ground. Just keep your eyes on me."

But Clowny got a big surprise. A startling sight soon met his eyes. He crawled out to the limb's end. Then the Times heard him scream. "Hey! I can't drop. I'll get all wet. Oh, my, this is the worst fix yet. 'It made the others laugh 'cause he was right above a stream."

(Clowny drops into the stream in the next story.)
